Key Description : TROUBLE WITH YOUTHS

Problem Description:
Security at the Legislature reported a high volume of traffic in the grounds from 22:00 to 05:00 hours. Prostitution, youths drinking and partying, high volume of vehicular traffic were all becoming common for this scenic and usually quiet part of the city. There were also indications that a portion of the drug scene had gravitated from Beaver Hill Park.

Problem solving strategies and results:
A three-part plan was initiated to curb this problem. First of all, a period of time was set aside to identify any trends and activities, the numbers and types of people involved, and an overall grasp of the situation. The situation as listed was pretty well confirmed. Secondly, the drug aspect was to be addressed through an organized "buy and bust" operation. Finally, increased patrols would be utilized to add visibility during peak problem hours. Once implemented, it became apparent that these strategies were insufficient in dealing with the problem. For the most part, it persisted. However, an interesting observation was made. All these troubling activities were centered around cars. Whatever these problem individuals were up to, they didn't stray far away from the vehicles.

Consequently, it was decided the best way to address this problem was to limit the accessibility of motor vehicles during the problem hours. Legitimate users of the grounds would not be inconvenienced by restrictions in the middle of the night. A number of temporary barricades are erected every evening at bay access location. Legislative Protection Services now report the number of incidents are at their lowest in eight years. A very simple solution to a long-standing problem where more traditional efforts were less effective.
